

HighJump Software and CIBER to Streamline Distribution for Major Brands; Offering Includes Comprehensive Supply Chain Execution Solution for Premier Wine and Spirits Distributor

HighJump Software, a 3M company (NYSE:MMM), and CIBER (NYSE:CBR) announced today that Major Brands Inc., Missouri's highest-volume distributor of premium spirits, wine and beer, has selected CIBER to implement HighJump's supply chain execution solution. HighJump's highly adaptable, best-of-breed supply chain execution solution and CIBER's extensive implementation expertise will drive measurable cost reductions for Major Brands by directing and optimizing supply chain work activities, improving inbound and outbound shipment processing and introducing more sophisticated picking techniques to Major Brands' warehouse operations.

Major Brands sells and distributes consumer beverage alcohol through multiple distribution channels, including grocery stores, restaurants, bars and a variety of retail outlets. To optimize all shipping and receiving activities in its high-volume warehouse, Major Brands needed an advanced and highly adaptable supply chain execution solution. Major Brands selected the HighJump solution because it will allow the company to quickly and cost-effectively accommodate changes in customer requirements, seasonal variations in volume and shipments of all sizes.

"The HighJump suite of supply chain execution solutions offers tremendous value to companies like Major Brands," said Paul Robson, Vice President of Supply Chain, CIBER. "In addition to comprehensive warehouse management system functionality and a high level of flexibility, wine and spirits distributors need to be able to control, track and gain visibility to the delivery and pick-up process throughout the supply chain. HighJump is one of the few providers to offer this full range of capabilities."

"CIBER has a proven track record of industry domain expertise incorporating best practices and proven methodologies," said Craig Levinsohn, Vice President of Marketing and Strategic Alliances, HighJump Software. "We look forward to working together to deliver solutions that generate immediate efficiencies, high levels of customer satisfaction and low total cost of ownership."
