

Bridgestone Firestone Selects HighJump Software and enVista

HighJump Software, a 3M company and enVista today announced that Bridgestone Firestone North American Tire, LLC has selected HighJump Software's supply chain execution solutions for sites across North America. This project includes enVista implementing HighJump Supply Chain Advantage suite in Bridgestone Firestone's facility in Ontario, Calif. This site serves customers in the western United States. Following successful implementation at the Ontario facility, Bridgestone Firestone plans to roll it out to other locations.

According to Jim Carroll, senior logistics system analyst, Bridgestone Firestone, "We expect that HighJump Software's solution suite will help us to achieve a new level of visibility into our supply chain operations while continuing to provide superior customer service."

"HighJump Software's proven, scalable solution suite is a great fit for a company like Bridgestone Firestone that deals with extremely high-volume, complex distribution," said Joel Garcia, senior director, enVista. "We are confident that the HighJump system will help enable Bridgestone Firestone to remain agile, creating distinct competitive advantage."

"We are pleased to be working with enVista to deliver a solid, best practices-based approach and solution set," said Chris Heim, president, HighJump Software. "We believe Bridgestone Firestone will be able to leverage its implementation experience with enVista as it continues its internal roll-out of flexible HighJump solutions over time."
