

3M Completes Sale of HighJump Software to Battery Ventures

3M announced today it has completed the sale of HighJump Software, a 3M company, to Battery Ventures, a technology venture capital and private equity firm. Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

As a result of the sale, HighJump Software LLC will operate as a stand-alone company focused on providing supply chain solutions to a global customer base. HighJump Software is a premier provider of flexible supply chain execution software and services with a suite of products that enable optimization of supply chain processes. Products will continue to be sold and supported under the HighJump brand around the world.
